

APPENDIX 1

CONFEDERATE PERIODICALS

Parrish and Willingham, the most comprehensive reference on Confederate imprints does not include periodicals, nor has any other reference specifically addressing them been located. Index to Southern Periodicals, compiled by Sam G. Riley is not really an index per se, but the most comprehensive list available of Southern magazines arranged by location and date. Unfortunately, Riley has not numbered the entries for reference and does not specifically address confederate imprints. The following is intended as an addendum to Parrish and Willingham, chiefly employing the information in Riley. Included are any magazines published at any time during the period of secession. The list includes definite or probable publications. Newspapers, questionable or totally nonconfirmable titles have been excluded. The entries are arranged chronologically, include the best available information on run dates and are cross-referenced to Union List of Serials and on-line against the best repositories for this genre, Duke University (<http://scriptorium.lib.duke.edu/>) and The Library of Congress (locis.loc.gov). A (+) denotes publication through the end of the Confederacy. Publication history after April 1865 is not included.
